JUDGE RESERVES DECISION IN TRIAL TO REVOKE LICENSE OF EDWARD HALEY

Entire Day Consumed In Taking Testimony---Much Evidence Was Produced.

CLERGYMAN IN CASE

What Constitutes Intemperate Habits Caused Considerable Discussion.

After an all-day hearing the disposition of the tansfer of the license of Edward Haley to William Coulson and the charges against Mr. Haley that he has violated the law in the manner in which he has conducted his saloon are now with the court. Judge McIlvaine heard the case and will hand down his decision in a day or two.

Rev. R. D. Walker, of the Methodist Episcopal church, of Roscoe, represents the petitioners who seek to have the license revoked, and Attorney R. W. Knox represents the petitioners and the Anti-Saloon League. Mr. Haley is represented by McIlaine and Clark, Attorney N. E. Clark appearing for the firm.

Before the hearing on the license revocation was taken up the hearing on the petition to tarnsfer was disposed of and is now with the court and will be taken up in connection with the petition to have the license revoked, and answer of Mr. Haley. William Coulson, who desires the license lives at Donora, where he had formerly been employed by his father, Emma Coulson, at the Hotel Columbia. He acted as bartender. The agr[redacted]to with Mr. Hal- compel his taking should the license. Under the agree- d the hotel, he tes- d all judgments and st Mr. Haley. The at the hotel was worth it was assessed at $25,- s probably worth $30,000. hotel property was included lling houses.

d Haley, the present holder license, stated the reason he oing out of business was that his 's health was bad and the physician had advised that she be taken away from the place, she being bothered with nervous trouble; also that he was so heavily involved financially that he must either sell or the sheriff would sell. He said that if the transfer were made and Mr. Coulson took the hotel, that he would be able to satisfy his creditors; but if the hotel was sold at forced sale, it would not bring what it was worth. The first mortgage is held by the Washington Trust Co. It formerly belonged to Ernest Ruder and was being taken by the Trust company as collateral. He said his indebtedness was about $38,000. The court asked him why he applied for a license at the last license court if his wife was sick. He said she had seemed better. On cross-examination he stated that his debts had been increasing instead of decreasing since he had the hotel. When asked if the hotel business did not pay, he replied it did not with him. He said on cross-examination that some of his creditors were wholesale liquor dealers. He denied that any complaint had been made by his bondsmen as to his manner of conducting his place. Character witnesses were called regarding Mr. Coulson, and this ended the transfer hearing.

Mr. Haley was called for cross-examination as the first witness on the license revoking hearing. He was asked to name his bar tenders since holding the license. He named John Allen, Frank Hall and George Haley. Haley, he said, was his brother. He said that Daniel Gollic occasionally helped ou behind the bar. He was questioned closely as to the times he had been away. He replied it would average about one day a week, but sometimes had been away two or three days at a time, at one time a week. His brother, George, he said, conducted the hotel while he was away. He was asked whether it was not so that he had at Rev. Walker's the day the petition for transfer was filed, and whether he had not said to Rev. Mr. Walker that if they proceeded against him he would lose his license. He replied he was at Mr. Walker's, had explained to him his financial condition, but that he had not intimated he was afraid he would lose his license; at that time he did not know what the charges were against him. He was asked if Frank Hazelbaker was served at his bar, and he replied he had been. As to Tom Roberts he said he does not get anything at his bar, that he was on the black list. He denied ever selling to Lem Ostender, and that he had been ejected from the place; he did not know George Hughes; Mat Flint has been served and also Jock Young; George Gillies he never served, nor Jack Riley, nor Jerry O'Leary; Thomas Gainor, he believed, has secured drinks at his bar.

Attorney Knox asked him if he had ever advertised his hotel for sale. He said he had not, except in a Roscoe paper and a miner's paper. The court asked him if he had anything to do with the advertisement that appeared in a Pittsburg paper, in which it was stated among other things in the advertisement that there would be no trouble about the transfer of the license. He said he had nothing to do with that advertisement, that it might have been put in by some Monessen real estate men who were trying to make a sale. The judge said the advertisement was called to his attention, and that he thought it assumed considerable.

Rev. R. D. Walker, one of the petitioners, testified that he had set forth the facts in the petition on information received; he had not seen any violations at the bar, as he never had been in the place; on pay nights the disorder about the saloon was very bad, that there was loud talking, cursing and swearing, and the sidewalk in front of the place was often blocked, so that people had to go single file to get by. This was greatly to the annoyance of men, women and children. Often his wife was with him when these things occurred. He testified that Mr. Haley had said, when he came to his home, that if they made a move against him, he would undoubtedly lose his license. Asked if the men named in the petition were men of known intemperate habits, he said they were, that he had frequently seen them intoxicated, sometimes on Sunday. He had been informed he said, that Frank Hazelbaker, who was killed on the P. V. and C. road, had been in Haley's saloon that evening. He was asked by the court if there had been any improvement about Haley's place since license court, and said there was some improvement as to the crowd on the sidewalk, but the noise coming from the inside was the same.

On cross-examination the usual questions were put to endeavor to bring out that the witness was opposed to the liquor traffic in any form, wanted to close up all the saloons, no matter how they were run. Mr. Walker answered every question carefully. When asked if he was opposed to saloons he said he was not, if they made homes happier and men better. He said he felt sure that if this saloon were closed; that it would lessen the area of inuflence, and there would be fewer arrests and disorder. He said such was the case since the one license was refused. The Haley saloon, he said, was located in a prominent place and was a "sore spot" in that community.

As to where he secured the information set forth in the proceedings he said some of it came from William Boyle, the mayor. Jack Young, he said, admitted getting liquor at Haley's.

Attorney Clark endeavored to bring out that the petitioners were considering backing down in the proceeding, and Mr. Walker replied they had not; that some were discouraged, and he gave them encouragement. Mrs. Walker corroborated her husband in his testimony.

Edward Tony, high constable and policeman at Elco, testified as to having seen some of the men named in the petition, served at the Haley hotel. Frank Esel testified to seeing Frank Hazelbaker served at the bar. Esel stated he had secured all the drink he wanted there.

Hotel DeTain Did A Flourishing Business Labor Day.

Labor Day was a busy one in police circles yesterday, although the number of arrests did not come up to those of former times for this event. The police gathered in six who did not have strength enough to resist the temptation to partake of a little (?) of the amber fluid.

John Yrtman, a miner of Vesta was found by Chief Albright and Officer McEldowney while violating a borough ordinance and being otherwise disorderly. He was taken to the calaboose, where he left a forfeit of $3.00 to appear at 7 p. m., but when the time came around he was absent and his money was forfeited.

Mana Turba, a miner of Coal Centre, was found guilty of violating a borough ordinance and being found guilty was fined $1 and costs, amounting to $2.85 which he paid.

Oscar Harndman, a miner of Fayette City, was fined guilty of the same charge, but being unable to pay the fine was remanded to jail.

Joseph Riley was next, charged with begging and being drunk. Riley who is minus his left arm, stated that he formerly lived at Braznell, where he lost his arm in the mine, and was on his way to see his brother at Webster. On being asked if he thought it was the proper thing to spend other people's money to get drunk on, he said no, but as yesterday was Labor Day, he though he had some excuse for celebrating. Burgess Hott told him that he would discharge him on condition that he leave town immediately and never return.

Valun Menek, a Vesta miner, was fined $2 and costs amounting to $3.85. Being unable to pay it, the burgess told him that he could work it out on the streets.

John Dessing, of Charleroi, the last brought up, who is an old offender, was found guilty of disorderly conduct, bad language and resisting an officer. He told the burgess that he had not been drunk for a long time, and a few drinks upset him badly. On being asked if he was a good worker he replied yes so the burgess told him he could work out his $6.85 on the streets.

DEATH WILL CHEAT JUSTICE

Children Surround Cot Of Convict as Life Gradually Leaves Him.

Surrounded by three of his children and the convict attendants in the hospital of the Western Penitentiary last night, D. R. Anderson, former Register and Recorder of Fayette county and cashier of the First National Bank of Masontown, was reported to be dying.

The aged banker suffered a stroke of paralysis last Saturday, due to a rupture of a blood vessel at the base of the brain and which was caused primarily by his worrying over being incarcerated for a term of five years on the charge of embezzlement. He has served a trifle over a year of his sentence.

Anderson was a great favorite with the prison's "millionaire's row" colony. This section is occupied principally by men who have had some connection with the looting of banks in Western Pennsylvania and Pittsburg during the past few years.

Several days ago the terrible strain on Anderson which was occasioned by his long term of imprisonment made itself manifest. Before he could be removed to the hospital he was a total paralytic.

John Young, who with Henry Reiber, assisted in stealing over a million dollars from the Farmer's bank, was one of the first to minister to Anderson's wants after he had been removed to the hospital.

Consulting Physicians O. J. Bennett and Resident Physician S. F. Hoogsett immediately saw that Anderson's attack would, no doubt, prove fatal. His family was notified and two sons and one daughter hurried yesterday to visit him. They were allowed to spend the greater part of the day and evening with him. He was not able to recognize them and will probably never be able to do so.

THOUSANDS WERE IN ATTENDANCE

The First Day Of Monongahela Old Home Week A Success.

The Labor Day parade yesterday at Monongahela attracted thousands of people to the real opening of the Old Home Week. Miners and union men from all along the Monongahela and Pigeon Creek valleys were in attendance and participated in the parade.

The parade formed at the lower end of town and headed by the detachment of police, city officals and miners' officials paraded the principal streets. Nirelli's Fourteenth regiment band, the principal music makers for the week, led the procession and following it were the various locals, headed by many bands. After the parade the miners adjourned to Riverview grove for the speaking.

Mayor William J. Blankenbuehler made the address of welcome and in behalf of Mononaghela and her people bid the miners "Weelcome to the City." The address of the mayor was along patriotic, union and labor lines and was received with a loud demonstration.

Following Mr. Blankenbuehler, Hugh McLaughlin, of Riverview, addressed the assemblage, and he was followed by President Francis Feehan, Vice President James S. Clarke, Secretary Treasurer Timothy Donovan of the miners and John K. Tener, candidate for Congress from this district.

The addresses were all interesting and along lines which the miners thoroughly enjoyed and understood. All were received with loud demonstrations and the vast crowd of thousands of men was pleased.

At the close of the speaking the assemblage ajdourned at Wightman's park, where the athletic events which had been arranged were pulled off.

Mrs. Mary Acton died at her home at the corner of Third street and Lincoln avenue Saturday night at 10 o'clock, aged 75 years. She was a widow and is survived by four sons. The funeral was held this morning at the home of the deceased, the services being conducted by Father W. D. Price. Interment in Elizabeth cemetery.

CHARLEROI SPLIT EVEN IN LAST GAMES OF PAWVA LEAGUE SEASON

Victorius Kruger Allowed The Cherubs But One Hit In Morning Game---Osborne In Fine Form Giving Five Safe Ones.

Victorious Kruger pitched his last game yesterday morning before joining the Brooklyn Nationals and he was in elegant form and allowed the Cherubs but one hit and that was registered by Heinz in the fifth inning when the leather was pushed between Hilley and Gillgan for a single. Abe fanned ten men and only four reached first not one of these getting as far as the second mile stone.

Willis Humphries did the delivering for the Cherubs and although touched for six safe drives but one runner was able to cross the rubber. He also had nine strikeouts to his record, including Rudolph three times and Phillips twice.

Uniontown scored their lone tally in the initial inning. Gilligan beat one out for a sack and took the next one on Hilleys sacrifice. Willis fed Rudolph the kind he didn't like and he took the bench after getting three healthy swings. Phillips was there with the big stick, however, and sent the run over with a single.

Uniontown had men on bases in the sixth and seventh but fast fielding by the Cherubs and good pitching by Humphries kept them from crossing the rubber. Score:

The last game of the Pawva league this season was pulled off yesterday afternoon and the Onions left for their home in the mountains on the 6:11 train with a defeat dangling in the air.

Manager Arch Osborne was the principal obstacle in the way as he allowed but five scattered hits which should have given him a shutout. Errors at the wrong time gave the runs.

Charleroi scored one in the opener when Dunn looked four wide ones over and Dailey sent him to third with one on which he took two sacks. Hon. John K. Tener who was covering the initial corner for "Pikles" Heinz leaned against one down the third base line and the first run crossed. The Onions tied it up in the fourth when they stole one in the fourth when Cowan reached first on Teners error an infield out and Phillips single. In the sixth Charleroi added one on a single by Nally, an infield out and Muldowneys error. Two more were made in the eighth by the locals on three hits. The Onions marked one in the eighth on an error by Dunn and a tripple by Muldowney. Two hits and an infield out brought them one more in the ninth. Score:

BIG GAS EXPLOSION BURNS TEN HOUSES

Ten tenant houses, five occupied by foreigners were burned at Brownsville Sunday with a loss of $10,000. A natural gas explosion was responsible. The houses built in two parallel rows were owned by T. J. Glynn. J. S. Griffith who lived in a small stuctrure at the end of one of the rows lighted a match as he entered his home, causing an explosion of accumulated gas.

The Volunteer Firemen.

When a man puts forth his best efforts and rerders the general public a benefit by doing so is he to be censured in case he falls short in the eyes of some idle bystander? He should not be, but many times it is the reverse.

Charleroi has a volunteer fire company that is composed of the public spirited citizens who are always looking out for the benefit of the town in general. In devoting their time as members of the fire department they not only benefit a few but every resident and yet they are criticised for their work. Not by all, do we mean to say, but by a few who are always willing to find fault but never able to lend a helping hand. When it is taken into consideration the disadvantages under which a volunteer company must work Charleroi has one that is second to none in the valley. The trouble is that the fault finders or "knockers" as they might be termed do not understand the disadvantage under which a volunteer company works. They are not in the engine house when the alarm rings, but probably at home resting, or in their office or at the work bench earning their daily bread. Upon hearing the alarm the first thought that enters the mind is that they have promised to aid, no matter where or how serious it may be. This promise is all that bind them to the service, yet the local company has the first time yet to fail to answer an alarm. Then when they do get to the house and are probably five or ten minutes in doing so there is always a waiting crowd to remark how slow they are and how much better they could do. Did you ever take into consideration how far these men have to travel. Some live on the hill others at the lower and upper end of town. They are not all supplied with automobiles and other means of transportation, but to get to the hose house they must run or walk. There is no paid men to have everything in readiness upon the arrival and this part must be looked after, where with a paid department, they are always on the ground and ready to start out on a moments notice.

The local company has worked under many disadvantages and have had a hard fight to get the company up to its present standard.

The new addition to the hose house which is nearing completion will aid them materially and you can further help them out by lending a good word instead of a "knock."

The Duquesne Observer contains the following little squib which is entirely too true and strikes some one in every town: The man who has nothing good to say about his town should keep his mouth closed until he has a chance to get out and look about some other places. Then, if he finds any place that suits him better he should go there and live; if not, he should come back and devote his time to speaking well of the place which gives him a home. That is one thing every man owes to the town in which he lives.

RUN OVER BY BUGGY SERIOUSLY INJURED

Yesterday afternoon Margaret Baker the 6 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Baker of Monongahela was run over by a buggy and seriously hurt. She was playing on the street near the Hotel Main when a buggy occupied by Frank Lydia of Monongahela and Nat Lutz of Lock No. 3 came upon her and before the horse could be stopped she had been struck. She was taken to the Hotel Main where Drs. Grey and Forquhar made an examination and discovered that her skull had been fratured.

SHEATH GOWN AT THE STAR

The Star theatre gave its patrons a change of bill last night. McKim and Rochte comedy sketch artists were well received. Miss Rocthe made her appearance in a Sheath gown directly imported from Paris. The gown is one of the most expensive, ones in the country and as it is the first seen in Charleroi created a vast amount of curiosity. Saitella the mystery worker pleased the large audience. Harry Wallace in the lates pictorial melody was well received.

The state health department have notified the authorities at Monessen that after September 15 they must cease dumping garbage in the ravine below Monessen. Complaints of residents of that section of town is the cause of the action of its state authorities.

There was a regular meeting of the council last night in the borough building. President F. W. Jones was in the chair, with all the members present except Piersoll. The meeting was short, as there was no special busines to be transacted. The regular bills were taken up and ordered paid. The report of the treasurer was taken up and approved, as was also the report of Burgess J. J. Hott. No other business being before the body, coucnil adjourned.

On Again, Off Again.

A young New York artist who is almost as noted for his convivial tendencies as he is for his genius was recently asked by a friend:

"What does your wife think of these spells? I should think she would not submit to them."

"When I have a spree," confessed the intemperate one frankly, "she is just as good to me as any one possibly could be. She takes care of me and nurses me back to decency with a kindness that is superhuman—it is angelic and beyond belief.

"But once I am sober again she begins to nag me to promise her and swear to her that I never, never, never again will drink a drop, and she keeps at me so determinedly and so persistently that—by Jove—she makes me so desperate that I have to go and fill up again so I can forget it."

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Mrs. Laura Holtz Schneider is an alderman of Buena Vista, Colo. It is said of her that she has given the most effective service ever given by an alderman of that town.

Mrs. Kean, mother of the senior New Jersey senator, is past eighty, yet is active in society. She spends much of her time making silk quilts of pieces from gowns of friends.

Viscountess Falkland of England is an American peeress, a daughter of Robert Reade of New York, and she is a lady of grace of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem as well.

Miss Mary E. Miller, a Chicago attorney and counselor, received a fee of $30,000 for gaining a suit for the grandchildren of William Bross for the distribution of his $3,000,000 estate.

Mrs. E. E. Teape and her daughter, Mrs. Mackelvie, recently accomplished the feat of a 4,000 mile trip in an automobile from Portland, Me., to Portland, Ore., without the presence or assistance of men.

Dr. Kathryn Standly of Brookfield, Mo., has been appointed by Governor Folk as a delegate from Missouri to the international congress on tuberculosis, to be held in Washington Sept. 21 to Oct. 12.

Miss Grace Bryan, second daughter of William J. Bryan, is quite a scholarly girl, and it is expected that she will go to college in the fall, she having been preparing for the last two years at a Virginia school. She is said to resemble her mother very much.

Famous Noses.

The immortal Ovid, surnamed Naso, had a bottle nose.

Lycurgus and Solon had noses each six inches in length.

Scipio Nasica derived his name from his very prominent nose.

Antiochus VIII. was called "Grypus" because his nose was as big and hooked as a vulture's beak.

In the medals of Cyrus and Artaxerxes the tips of their noses came clear out to the rim of the coin.

Mohammed's nose was so curved that the point seemed to be endeavoring to insert itself between his lips.

Numa's nose was six inches in length, whence he obtained his surname of Pompilius, as being the owner of a superlative nose.

Great Frederick's nose was so prominent that Lavater offered to wager his reputation that, blindfolded, he could tell it out of 10,000 other noses by simply taking it between his thumb and finger.

Here's the Answer.

"Why is your husband so irritable at home?" inquired the amazed visitor.

"Because he knows it's safe to be," answered the long suffering wife.—St. Louis Republic.

Her Name.

One needs patience to succeed as a teacher of the young, as this brief dialogue in one of our elementary schools may show:

Scholar—I've left home now, ma'am. I'm living with my auntie.

Teacher—What's her name?

"She's called after me—Fanny."

"Yes, but what's her other name?"

"She has no other."

"But what does the woman next door call her?"

"She doesn't speak to the woman next door."

Reminders.

Counsel (to witness)—Now, allow me to remind you of what happened to Balaam. Witness—Certainly. But allow me to remind you that it was the ass that warned him.

Let us be of good cheer, remembering that the misfortunes hardest to bear are those which never come.—Lowell.

Will Improve Service.

Pittsburg Railways company will improve the service on the Charleroi line this week in order to handle the large crowds expected at the Old Home Coming celebration at Monongahela. The regular half hour service will be continued at Allenport from 6 p. m. to 10 p. m., at Charleroi from 6:15 p. m. to 10:15 p. m., and at Monongahela from 5:53 p. m. to 10:53 p. m. In addition during the day on the regular half-hourly runs, cars will be operated in as many sections as will be necessary to properly care for those who may go from Pittsburg or other points in the Monongahela valley to Monongahela City.

Making More Than a Living

Nearly every man who works steadily makes more than a living. During these slow times the men who have saved something appreciate what it is to have something laid away for a rainy day. A few cents a day soon counts up, and when savings are placed in a bank at a tidy interest the sum soon grows to proportions that make it a safeguard against want when work is not plentiful. Figure up how much more than a living you are making now, and place the difference in this bank. Four per cent. intereet paid in savings department.

THE CARD TRICK.

How They Say It Was Worked on an Austrian Official.

An amusing railway carriage joke is being told in Paris at the expense of M. Derschatta, the Austro-Hungarian minister of railways. The minister does not smoke and has a perfect horror of tobacco. What was his chagrin, then, on seating himself in a non-smoking carriage in a train near Vienna to see a fellow passenger light a large cigar.

The minister coughed insinuatingly without effect. The minister coughed more loudly and then as violently as he could. All in vain. The smoker continued to emit clouds.

"Sir," said the minister, "will you allow me to observe that this is a non-smoking compartment?" "Oh!" said the smoker. "Well, it doesn't matter." "But, sir, the authorities"— "The authorities? Oh, they don't matter." "Pardon me, sir, but I am the minister of railways. Let me give you my card."

The smoker took the card, read it and quietly put it in his pocket. "So you're the minister for railways?" he said. "Oh, well, that doesn't matter."

At the next station the minister called the station master and requested him to take the smoker's name. The smoker produced a card. The station master instantly became apologetic. "Pardon, your excellency," he said; "I did not know to whom I had the honor of speaking. If this fellow"—pointing to the minister—"bothers you, I will make him get out." The smoker gave a condescending gesture, and the train started again.

After a few minutes of utter amazement M. Derschatta realized that the smoker had given the official his (the minister's) card and, being possessed of a sense of humor, burst into a shout of laughter.

Castro's Palace of Steel.

President Castro lives in what is probably the most remarkable dwelling place of any modern ruler. It stands within a park at Caracas and is built almost entirely of steel. The outer walls are covered with a kind of soft stone; so, to look at, there is nothing peculiar about the place, but it is said to be the strongest house in the world, and it will resist the heaviest gun fire.

The idea of a steel "palace" occurred to the president after he had had experience of one or two earthquakes. One night he was awakened by an earth tremor, and in his fright he jumped out of a window and broke his leg. After that he decided that bricks and mortar were not safe; hence the reason for his metal abode.—London M. A. P.

Four Hours of Sleep Not Enough.

Thomas Edison says that four hours of sleep is enough for any one and that it is a waste of time to take any more.

So long, Thomas. Talk about something you are better qualified to discuss. Is your own health so wonderfully steady as to entitle your rules for living to be generally accepted? Wasn't it you who had a mastoid abscess the other day? You are only sixty-one years old. Any one with decent luck can live that long notwithstanding some abuse of natural strength. When you are ninety and still hale your habits of life will become interesting. Do you want people to sit up half the night to use your patent lamps and increase your royalties? Tut, tut, Thomas, don't be so greedy!—Life.

Indian Engineer.

A descendant of Tama's band of Musquakie Indians is now the engineer of a fast passenger train on the Burlington road. He is here on the same ground where his ancestors lived for many generations. He crosses the same rivers, surveys the same landscapes, observes the same phenomena of wind, temperature, storms, etc., that were familiar to his ancestors of centuries ago. He wears more clothes than they wore, and he speaks a different language, and he is serving civilization instead of barbarism. Few if any of the passengers who ride behind him know that a Tama Indian sits in the cab of the engine as it speeds over the prairies.—Burlington Post.

A Chef In a Box.

The old emperor of Austria pays his cook, Perski, $10,000 a year salary. This same Perski was once the cook of Count Rheingaum, and many years ago when the emperor of Austria was dining with the count he was struck with the way a certain boar's head was cooked and desired that the chef should be complimented. Two days afterward a huge packing case arrived at Schoenbrunn with Count Rheingaum's compliments. On being opened the case was found to contain Perski, a bit breathless, but otherwise all right. The emperor laughed at the joke, accepted the gift, and Perski has been the royal chef ever since.

A "Rat Week" Suggested.

Why can we not have "rat week" and let everybody in the United States devote the week, or as much time as possible within the week, to killing rats? It would be the best paying week's work from a money and health standpoint the people ever did. It would be a sanitary labor that would be farreaching in its effects, the benefits from which would be of a lasting character.—Staunton (Va.) Dispatch.

FOR THE CHILDREN

Give Fish For Answers.

Here is a competition with fish to form the answers:

What fish should belong to millionaires? Goldfish.

What fish should shine among its fellows? Sunfish.

What fish is noted for its graceful motions? Skate.

What fish would win in a wrestling match? Mussel.

What fish carries a weapon? Swordfish.

What fish would be of service in a lumber yard? Sawfish.

What fish has the name of a Kipling character? Shad.

What fish has the name of a Dickens character? Cuttle.

What fish is given to melancholy? Bluefish.

What fish is one pitch of a singer's voice? Bass.

What fish is notoriously flat? Flounder.

What fish does a pilot dread? Rock bass.

What fish is a whole world in itself? Globe.

What fish is not honest? Shark.

What fish could serve in the navy? Torpedo fish.

What fish is fault finding? Carp.

What fish does not need to swim? Flying fish.

Signaling Noon.

Most boys and girls know perhaps that the hour of noon is signaled every day to every part of the country by telegraph from the naval observatory at Washington. The custom originated, it is believed, at the Greenwich observatory in England, but our system is an improvement on theirs, says the Chicago News. At Greenwich a signal is sent out at noon, but at Washington a series of signals is used, beginning five minutes before noon. During these five minutes every tick of the observatory clock is electrically transmitted, except the twenty-ninth second of each minute, the last five seconds of the first four minutes and the last ten seconds of the fifth minute. After this final break of ten seconds the exact noon signal is given. The object of the series of signals is not only to indicate more clearly the instant of noon, but to enable the men at the various stations to regulate their clocks.

Diamonds Burn Like Coal.

The jeweler [illegible] closing time was putting his di[illegible]n a huge safe.

"But wh[illegible] bother to do that when two watchmen walk the shop all night long?"

"On account of fire," the jeweler replied. "Diamonds are nothing but coal—carbon—they burn beautifully. Their hardness makes us think them indestructible, but as a matter of fact, a fire of diamonds would be the briskest, prettiest thing in the world.

"Put a handful of diamonds on a plate and set a light to them. They will burn with a hard, gemlike flame till nothing is left. There will be no smoke, no soot, and at the end the plate will be as clean as though just washed—not the slightest particle even of ash will remain."

National Flowers.

The fleur de-lis is the emblem of gay France.

The violet is the national flower of Athens.

The sugar maple is the national emblem of Canada.

The shamrock is emblematic of the Emerald Isle.

The linden is the national emblem of Prussia.

England's national flower is the rose.

Italy's emblem is the lily.

Germany's emblem is the corn flower.

The leek is the emblem of Wales, and the thistle of Scotland.

The United States has no national flower.

Birthdays—A Game.

A lovely game played on the same plan as the donkey game is birthdays. Tack a large calendar on the wall or an improvised one containing thirty-one squares, from one to thirty-one in regular order. Provide each guest with a slip of muslin or paper bearing the date of his birth. The game is to walk blindfolded to the calendar and pin your paper to it. The one pluning his date nearest to the same date on the calendar wins the prize. For instance, if your birthday is the 30th of April you should try to pin the paper as near as possible to the 30 on the calendar.

Do You Know Who Was—

"Poor Richard?"—Benjamin Franklin.

The "Sage of Greystone?"—Samuel Tilden.

The "Sage of Monticello?"—Thomas Jefferson.

The "Hero of the Towpath?"—James A. Garfield.

"Unconditional Surrender?"—U. S. Grant.

"Stonewall?"—Thomas J. Jackson.

"Little David?"—John Randolph.

The "Gray Eyed Man of Destiny?"—General William Walker.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Some Easy Riddles.

What gave the window pane (pain)? To see the curtain hung.

What bell cannot be rung. A dumbbell.

What was the most curious thing ever found in Africa? A living stone (Livingstone).

His Number.

Johnny—Say, dad, if I ate a chop and you ordered one and ate it, what would your phone number be?

Pa—Give it up, son.

Johnny—It would be 86.

The New Watch.

The young man drew forth a fine gold watch.

"Please regulate this," he said.

"A birthday present, eh?" said the watchmaker. "Now, listen, and I'll give you some pointers about how to keep this watch in fine condition.

"Wind it in the morning instead of at night.

"At least once a year have it oiled. Remember that its balance swings 18,000 times a year, all on one little drop of oil. A wheelbarrow wouldn't stand such treatment. It would shriek for lubrication, but the small voice of the watch cannot be heard.

"After mending or cleaning examine your watch's screw heads and frames. If they are scratched the workman has been careless. He is a man to be avoided. Patronize him no more.

"Don't grumble if your mainspring breaks. This accident is due to some unknown condition of the weather. There are mainspring epidemics, like influenza ones. Just now such an epidemic is afoot. I have taken out sixty fractured mainsprings this week."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

He Got It.

He had the air of a man who was particularly well satisfied with himself.

"I tell you," he said, "there's nothing like having sickness in the family to convince a man that he can do a good many things that he never would have dared to attempt before. Now, today I am going to buy a gown for my little girl. Her mother can't get out, you know, and so I am going to do it myself."

On the day following he had the air of a man who was particularly dissatisfied with himself.

"What's the matter?" he was asked "Couldn't you get that gown?"

"Couldn't I get it!" he repeated. "Couldn't I get it! Hang it all, the trouble is that I did get it!"

"Something wrong with it?"

"Something! If it was only 'something' I wouldn't mind. My taste is wrong, my judgment is wrong, the color is wrong, the size is wrong and the price is wrong."—Chicago Post.

Seeing Ourselves.

"The man who can pick out the best picture of himself is a rare bird," said a photographer. "Even an author, who is reputedly a poor judge of his own work, exercises vast wisdom in selecting his best book compared with the person who tries to choose his best photograph. Every famous man or woman who has been photographed repeatedly has his favorite picture Usually it is the worst in the collection. It shows him with an unnatural expression sitting or standing in an unnatural attitude.

"The inability to judge of his best picture must be due to the average man's ignorance as to how he really looks, or perhaps it can be partly attributed to a desire to look other than he does. A stout man will swear that the photograph most nearly like him is one that makes him look thin, a thin man the one that makes him look stout. The solemn man selects the jolliest picture, the jovial man the most cadaverous.

College and School.

The oldest of Oxford's colleges, University, was founded in 1249.

The average annual cost per pupil for public school education in Germany is $12.86.

Mrs. Mary Quimby recently closed her school in the Buzzell district, Wakefield, N. H., making forty-five consecutive years she has been engaged in the work.

Nearly all the states in the American Union established free public schools between 1840 and 1850. But the graded system of instruction was carried out only in the large cities. In a country school there were sometimes more classes than scholars.

State Lines.

A new law in Louisiana has lifted the robin out of the list of game birds

Colorado has a marble deposit worth more to the ton than any but the very highest grade of gold ore.

In the eleven counties of southeast Missouri, containing swamp or overflowed lands, thirty-one drainage ditches or canals have been constructed, with a total length of about 660 miles. These ditches have reclaimed 255,000 acres of land.

JUDGE RESERVES DECISION IN TRIAL TO REVOKE LICENSE OF EDWARD HALEY

Entire Day Consumed In Taking Testimony---Much Evidence Was Produced.

CLERGYMAN IN CASE

What Constitutes Intemperate Habits Caused Considerable Discussion.

After an all-day hearing the disposition of the tansfer of the license of Edward Haley to William Coulson and the charges against Mr. Haley that he has violated the law in the manner in which he has conducted his saloon are now with the court. Judge McIlvaine heard the case and will hand down his decision in a day or two.

Rev. R. D. Walker, of the Methodist Episcopal church, of Roscoe, represents the petitioners who seek to have the license revoked, and Attorney R. W. Knox represents the petitioners and the Anti-Saloon League. Mr. Haley is represented by McIlaine and Clark, Attorney N. E. Clark appearing for the firm.

Before the hearing on the license revocation was taken up the hearing on the petition to tansfer was disposed of and is now with the court and will be taken up in connection with the petition to have the license revoked, and answer of Mr. Haley. William Coulson, who desires the license lives at Donora, where he had formerly been employed by his father, Eneas Coulson, at the Hotel Columbia. He acted as bartender. The agreement entered into with Mr. Haley to compel his taking over should the license be granted. Under the agreement he was to buy the hotel, he to assume all judgments and costs against Mr. Haley. He valued that the hotel was worth $30,000, that it was assessed at $25,000 and is probably worth $30,000. The hotel property was included in the selling houses.

Mrs. Haley, the present holder of the license, stated the reason he was going out of business was that his wife's health was bad and the physician had advised that she be taken away from the place, she being bothered with nervous trouble; also that he was so heavily involved financially that he must either sell or the sheriff would sell. He said that if the transfer were made and Mr. Coulson took the hotel, that he would be able to satisfy his creditors; but if the hotel was sold at forced sale, it would not bring what it was worth. The first mortgage is held by the Washington Trust Co. It formerly belonged to Ernest Ruder and was being taken by the Trust company as collateral. He said his indebtedness was about $33,000. The court asked him why he applied for a license at the last license court if his wife was sick. He said she had seemed better. On cross-examination he stated that his debts had been increasing instead of decreasing since he had the hotel. When asked if the hotel business did not pay, he replied it did not with him. He said on cross-examination that some of his creditors were wholesale liquor dealers. He denied that any complaint had been made by his bondsmen as to his manner of conducting his place. Character witnesses were called regarding Mr. Coulson, and this ended the transfer hearing.

Mr. Haley was called for cross-examination as the first witness on the license revoking hearing. He was asked to name his bar tenders since holding the license. He named John Allen, Frank Hall and George Haley. Haley, he said, was his brother. He said that Daniel Gollic occasionally helped on behind the bar. He was questioned closely as to the times he had been away. He replied it would average about one day a week, but sometimes had been away two or three days at a time, at one time a week. His brother, George, he said, conducted the hotel while he was away. He was asked whether it was not so that he had at Rev. Walker's the day the petition for transfer was filed, and whether he had not said to Rev. Mr. Walker that if they proceeded against him he would lose his license. He replied he was at Mr. Walker's, had explained to him his financial condition, but that he had not intimated he was afraid he would lose his license; at that time he did not know what the charges were against him. He was asked if Frank Hazelbaker was served at his bar, and he replied he had been. As to Tom Roberts he said he does not get anything at his bar, that he was on the black list. He denied ever selling to Lem Ostander, and that he had been ejected from the place; he did not know George Hughes; Mat Flint has been served and also Jock Young; George Gillies he never served, nor Jack Riley, nor Jerry O'Leary: Thomas Gainor, he believed, has secured drinks at his bar.

Attorney Knox asked him if he had ever advertised his hotel for sale. He said he had not, except in a Roscoe paper and a miner's paper. The court asked him if he had anything to do with the advertisement that appeared in a Pittsburg paper, in which it was stated among other things in the advertisement that there would be no trouble about the transfer of the license. He said he had nothing to do with that advertisement, that it might have been put in by some Monessen real estate men who were trying to make a sale. The judge said the advertisement was called to his attention, and that he thought it assumed considerable.

Rev. R. D. Walker, one of the petitioners, testified that he had set forth the facts in the petition on information received; he had not seen any violations at the bar, as he never had been in the place; on pay nights the disorder about the saloon was very bad, that there was loud talking, cursing and swearing, and the sidewalk in front of the place was often blocked, so that people had to go single file to get by. This was greatly to the annoyance of men, women and children. Often his wife was with him when these things occurred. He testified that Mr. Haley had said, when he came to his home, that if they made a move against him, he would undoubtedly lose his license. Asked if the men named in the petition were men of known intemperate habits, he said they were, that he had frequently seen them intoxicated, sometimes on Sunday. He had been informed he said, that Frank Hazelbaker, who was killed on the P. V. and C. road, had been in Haley's saloon that evening. He was asked by the court if there had been any improvement about Haley's place since license court, and said there was some improvement as to the crowd on the sidewalk, but the noise coming from the inside was the same.

On cross-examination the usual questions were put to endeavor to bring out that the witness was opposed to the liquor traffic in any form, wanted to close up all the saloons, no matter how they were run. Mr. Walker answered every question carefully. When asked if he was opposed to saloons he said he was not, if they made homes happier and men better. He said he felt sure that if this saloon were closed; that it would lessen the area of inuflence, and there would be fewer arrests and disorder. He said such was the case since the one license was refused. The Haley saloon, he said, was located in a prominent place and was a "sore spot" in that community.

As to where he secured the information set forth in the proceedings he said some of it came from William Boyle, the mayor. Jack Young, he said, admitted getting liquor at Haley's.

Attorney Clark endeavored to bring out that the petitioners were considering backing down in the proceeding, and Mr. Walker replied they had not; that some were discouraged, and he gave them encouragement. Mrs. Walker corroborated her husband in his testimony.

Edward Tony, high constable and policeman at Elco, testified as to having seen some of the men named in the petition, served at the Haley hotel. Frank Esel testified to seeing Frank Hazelbaker served at the bar. Esel stated he had secured all the drink he wanted there.

Hotel DeTain Did A Flourishing Business Labor Day.

Labor Day was a busy one in police circles yesterday, although the number of arrests did not come up to those of former times for this event. The police gathered in six who did not have strength enough to resist the temptation to partake of a little (?) of the amber fluid.

John Ertman, a miner of Vesta was found by Chief Albright and Officer McEldowney while violating a borough ordinance and being otherwise disorderly. He was taken to the calaboose, where he left a forfeit of $3.00 to appear at 7 p. m., but when the time came around he was absent and his money was forfeited.

Mana Turba, a miner of Coal Centre, was found guilty of violating a borough ordinance and being found guilty was fined $1 and costs, amounting to $2.85 which he paid.

Oscar Harndman, a miner of Fayette City, was fined guilty of the same charge, but being unable to pay the fine was remanded to jail.

Joseph Riley was next, charged with begging and being drunk. Riley who is minus his left arm, stated that he formerly lived at Braznell, where he lost his arm in the mine, and was on his way to see his brother at Webster. On being asked if he thought it was the proper thing to spend other people's money to get drunk on, he said no, but as yesterday was Labor Day, he though he had some excuse for celebrating. Burgess Mott told him that he would discharge him on condition that he leave town immediately and never return.

Valun Menek, a Vesta miner, was fined $2 and costs amounting to $3.85. Being unable to pay it, the burgess told him that he could work it out on the streets.

John Dessing, of Charleroi, the last brought up, who is an old offender, was found guilty of disorderly conduct, bad language and resisting an officer. He told the burgess that he had not been drunk for a long time, and a few drinks upset him badly. On being asked if he was a good worker he replied yes so the burgess told him he could work out his $6.85 on the streets.

DEATH WILL CHEAT JUSTICE

Children Surround Cot Of Convict as Life Gradually Leaves Him.

Surrounded by three of his children and the convict attendants in the hospital of the Western Penitentiary last night, D. R. Anderson, former Register and Recorder of Fayette county and cashier of the First National Bank of Masontown, was reported to be dying.

The aged banker suffered a stroke of paralysis last Saturday, due to a rupture of a blood vessel at the base of the brain and which was caused primarily by his worrying over being incarcerated for a term of five years on the charge of embezzlement. He has served a trifle over a year of his sentence.

Anderson was a great favorite with the prison's "millionaire's row" colony. This section is occupied principally by men who have had some connection with the looting of banks in Western Pennsylvania and Pittsburg during the past few years.

Several days ago the terrible strain on Anderson which was occasioned by his long term of imprisonment made itself manifest. Before he could be removed to the hospital he was a total paralytic.

John Young, who with Henry Reiber, assisted in stealing over a million dollars from the Farmer's bank, was one of the first to minister to Anderson's wants after he had been removed to the hospital.

Consulting Physicians O. J. Bennett and Resident Physician S. F. Hoogsett immediately saw that Anderson's attack would, no doubt, prove fatal. His family was notified and two sons and one daughter hurried yesterday to visit him. They were allowed to spend the greater part of the day and evening with him. He was not able to recognize them and will probably never be able to do so.

The First Day Of Monongahela Old Home Week A Success.

The Labor Day parade yesterday at Monongahela attracted thousands of people to the real opening of the Old Home Week. Miners and union men from all along the Monongahela and Pigeon Creek valleys were in attendance and participated in the parade.

The parade formed at the lower end of town and headed by the detachment of police, city officals and miners' officials paraded the principal streets. Nirelli's Fourteenth regiment band, the principal music makers for the week, led the procession and following it were the various locals, headed by many bands. After the parade the miners adjourned to Riverview grove for the speaking.

Mayor William J. Blankenbuehler made the address of welcome and in behalf of Mononaghela and her people bid the miners "Weclome to the City." The address of the mayor was along patriotic, union and labor lines and was received with a loud demonstration.

Following Mr. Blankenbuehler, Hugh McLaughlin, of Riverview, addressed the assemblage, and he was followed by President Francis Feehan, Vice President James S. Clarke, Secretary Treasurer Timothy Donovan of the miners and John K. Tener, candidate for Congress from this district.

The addresses were all interesting and along lines which the miners thoroughly enjoyed and understood. All were received with loud demonstrations and the vast crowd of thousands of men was pleased.

At the close of the speaking the assemblage ajdourned at Wightman's park, where the athletic events which had been arranged were pulled off.

Mrs. Mary Acton died at her home at the corner of Third street and Lincoln avenue Saturday night at 10 o'clock, aged 75 years. She was a widow and is survived by four sons. The funeral was held this morning at the home of the deceased, the services being conducted by Father W. D. Fike. Interment in Elizabeth cemetery.

CHARLEROI SPLIT EVEN IN LAST GAMES OF PAWVA LEAGUE SEASON

Victorius Kruger Allowed The Cherubs But One Hit In Morning Game---Osborne In Fine Form Giving Five Safe Ones.

Victorious Kruger pitched his last game yesterday morning before joining the Brooklyn Nationals and he was in elegant form and allowed the Cherubs but one hit and that was registered by Heinz in the fifth inning when and Gillgan for a single. Abe fanned ten men and only four reached first not one of these getting as far as the second mile stone.

Willis Humphries did the delivering for the Cherubs and although touched for six safe drives but one runner was able to cross the rubber. He also had nine strikeouts to his record, including Rudolph three times and Phillips twice.

Uniontown scored their lone tally in the initial inning. Gilligan beat one out for a sack and took the next one on Hilleys sacrifice. Willis fed Rudolph the kind he didn't like and he took the bench after getting three healthy swings. Phillips was there with the big stick, however, and sent the run over with a single.

Uniontown had men on bases in the sixth and seventh but fast fielding by the Cherubs and good pitching by Humphries kept them from crossing the rubber. Score:

The last game of the Pawva league this season was pulled off yesterday afternoon and the Onions left for their home in the mountains on the 6:11 train with a defeat dangling in the air.

Manager Arch Osborne was the principal obstacle in the way as he allowed but five scattered hits which should have given him a shutout. Errors at the wrong time gave the runs.

Charleroi scored one in the opener when Dunn looked four wide ones over and Dailey sent him to third with one on which he took two sacks. Hon. John K. Tener who was covering the initial corner for "Pikles" Heinz leaned against one down the third base line and the first run crossed. The Onions tied it up in the fourth when they stole one in the fourth when Cowan reached first on Teners error an infield out and Phillips single. In the sixth Charleroi added one on a single by Nally, an infield out and Muldowneys error. Two more were made in the eighth by the locals on three hits. The Onions marked one in the eighth on an error by Dunn and a tripple by Muldowney. Two hits and an infield out brought them one more in the ninth. Score:

The Volunteer Firemen.

When a man puts forth his best efforts and renders the general public a benefit by doing so is he to be censured in case he falls short in the eyes of some idle bystander? He should not be, but many times it is the reverse.

Charleroi has a volunteer fire company that is composed of the public spirited citizens who are always looking out for the benefit of the town in general. In devoting their time as members of the fire department they not only benefit a few but every resident and yet they are criticised for their work Not by all, do we mean to say, but by a few who are always willing to find fault but never able to lend a helping hand. When it is taken into consideration the disadvantages under which a volunteer company must work Charleroi has one that is second to none in the valley. The trouble is that the fault finders or "knockers" as they might be termed do not understand the disadvantage under which a volunteer company works. They are not in the engine house when the alarm rings, but probably at home resting, or in their office or at the work bench earning their daily bread. Upon hearing the alarm the first thought that enters the mind is that they have promised to aid, no matter where or how serious it may be. This promise is all that bind them to the service, yet the local company has the first time yet to fail to answer an alarm Then when they do get to the house and are probably five or ten minutes in doing so there is always a waiting crowd to remark how slow they are and how much better they could do. Did you ever take into consideration how far these men have to travel. Some live on the hill others at the lower and upper end of town. They are not all supplied with automobiles and other means of transportation, but to get to the hose house they must run or walk. There is no paid men to have everything in readiness upon the arrival and this part must be looked after, [illegible] are always on the ground and ready to start out on a moments notice.

The local company has worked under many disadvantages and have had a hard fight to get the company up to its present standard.

The new addition to the hose house which is nearing completion will aid them materially and you can further help them out by lending a good word instead of a "knock."

The Duquesne Observer contains the following little squib which is entirely too true and strikes some one in every town. The man who has nothing good to say about his town should keep his mouth closed until he has a chance to get out and look about some other places. Then, if he finds any place that suits him better he should go there and live; if not, he should come back and devote his time to speaking well of the place which gives him a home. That is one thing every man owes to the town in which he lives.

On Again, Off Again.

A young New York artist who is almost as noted for his convivial tendencies as he is for his genius was recently asked by a friend.

"What does your wife think of these spells? I should think she would not submit to them"

"When I have a spree," confessed the intemperate one frankly, "she is just as good to me as any one possibly could be. She takes care of me and nurses me back to decency with a kindness that is superhuman—it is angelic and beyond belief.

"But once I am sober again she begins to nag me to promise her and swear to her that I never, never, never again will drink a drop, and she keeps at me so determinedly and so persistently that—by Jove—she makes me so desperate that I have to go and fill up again so I can forget it."

Mohammed's nose was so curved that the point seemed to be endeavoring to insert itself between his lips

Numa's nose was six inches in length, whence he obtained his surname of Pompilius, as being the lover of a superlative nose

Great Frederick's nose was so prominent that Lavater offered to wager his reputation that, blindfolded, he could tell it out of 10,000 other noses by simply taking it between his thumb and finger.

Here the Answer.

"Why is your husband so irritable at home?" inquired the amazed visitor

"Because he knows it's safe to be," answered the long suffering wife.—St Louis Republic.

Her Name.

One needs patience to succeed as a teacher of the young, as this brief dialogue in one of our elementary schools may show

Scholar—I've left home now, ma'am I'm living with my auntie.

Teacher—What's her name?

"She's called after me—Fanny."

"Yes, but what's her other name?"

"She has no other."

"But what does the woman next door call her?"

"She doesn't speak to the woman next door."

Reminders.

Counsel (to witness)—Now, allow me to remind you of what happened to Balaam. Witness—Certainly But allow me to remind you that it was the ass that warned him.

Let us be of good cheer, remembering that the misfortunes hardest to bear are those which never come.—Lowell.

Making More Than a Living

Nearly every man who works steadily makes more than a living During these slow times the men who have saved something appreciate what it is to have something laid away for a rainy day A few cents a day soon counts up and when savings are placed in a bank at a tidy interest the sum soon grows to proportions that make it a safeguard against want when work is not plentiful. Figure up how much more than a living you are making now, and place the difference in this bank. Four per cent. intereet paid in savings department.

THE CARD TRICK.

How They Say It Was Worked on an Austrian Official.

An amusing railway carriage joke is being told in Paris at the expense of M. Derschatta, the Austro-Hungarian minister of railways. The minister does not smoke and has a perfect horror of tobacco. What was his chagrin, then, on searing himself in a non-smoking carriage in a train near Vienna to see a fellow passenger light a large cigar.

The minister coughed insinuatingly without effect. The minister coughed more loudly and then as violently as he could. All in vain. The smoker continued to emit clouds.

"Sir," said the minister, "will you allow me to observe that this is a non-smoking compartment?" "Oh!" said the smoker. "Well, it doesn't matter." "But, sir, the authorities"— "The authorities? Oh, they don't matter." "Pardon me, sir, but I am the minister of railways. Let me give you my card."

The smoker took the card, read it ... you're the minister for railways?" he said. "Oh, well, that doesn't matter."

At the next station the minister called the station master and requested him to take the smoker's name. The smoker produced a card. The station master instantly became apologetic. "Pardon, your excellency," he said; "I did not know to whom I had the honor of speaking. If this fellow"—pointing to the minister—"bothers you, I will make him get out." The smoker gave a condescending gesture, and the train started again.

After a few minutes of utter amazement M. Derschatta realized that the smoker had given the official his (the minister's) card and, being possessed of a sense of humor, burst into a shout of laughter.

Castro's Palace of Steel.

President Castro lives in what is probably the most remarkable dwelling place of any modern ruler. It stands within a park at Caracas and is built almost entirely of steel. The outer walls are covered with a kind of soft stone; so, to look at, there is nothing peculiar about the place, but it is said to be the strongest house in the world, and it will resist the heaviest gun fire.

The idea of a steel "palace" occurred to the president after he had had experience of one or two earthquakes. One night he was awakened by an earth tremor, and in his fright he jumped out of a window and broke his leg. After that he decided that bricks and mortar were not safe; hence the reason for his metal abode.—London M. A. P.

Four Hours of Sleep Not Enough.

Thomas Edison says that four hours of sleep is enough for any one and that it is a waste of time to take any more.

So long, Thomas. Talk about something you are better qualified to discuss. Is your own health so wonderfully steady as to entitle your rules for living to be generally accepted? Wasn't it you who had a mastoid abscess the other day? You are only sixty-one years old. Any one with decent luck can live that long notwithstanding some abuse of natural strength. When you are ninety and still take your habits of life will become interesting. Do you want people to sit up half the night to use your patent lamps and increase your royalties? Tut, tut, Thomas, don't be so greedy!—Life.

Indian Engineer.

A descendant of Tama's band of Musquakie Indians is now the engineer of a fast passenger train on the Burlington road. He is here on the same ground where his ancestors lived for many generations. He crosses the same rivers, surveys the same landscapes, observes the same phenomena of wind, temperature, storms, etc., that were familiar to his ancestors of centuries ago. He wears more clothes than they wore, and he speaks a different language, and he is serving civilization instead of barbarism. Few if any of the passengers who ride behind him know that a Tama Indian sits in the cab of the engine as it speeds over the prairies.—Burlington Post.

A Chef In a Box.

The old emperor of Austria pays his cook, Perski, $10,000 a year salary. This same Perski was once the cook of Count Rheingaum, and many years ago when the emperor of Austria was dining with the count he was struck with the way a certain boar's head was cooked and desired that the chef should be complimented. Two days afterward a huge packing case arrived at Schoenbrunn with Count Rheingaum's compliments. On being opened the case was found to contain Perski, a bit breathless, but otherwise all right. The emperor laughed at the joke, accepted the gift, and Perski has been the royal chef ever since.

A "Rat Week" Suggested.

Why can we not have "rat week" and let everybody in the United States devote the week, or as much time as possible within the week, to killing rats? It would be the best paying ... standpoint the people ever did. It would be a sanitary labor that would be farreaching in its effects, the benefits from which would be of a lasting character.—Staunton (Va.) Dispatch.

FOR THE CHILDREN

Give Fish For Answers.

Here is a competition with fish to form the answers:

What fish should belong to millionaires? Goldfish.

What fish should shine among its fellows? Sunfish.

What fish is noted for its graceful motions? Skate.

What fish would win in a wrestling match? Mussel.

What fish carries a weapon? Swordfish.

What fish would be of service in a lumber yard? Sawfish.

What fish has the name of a Kipling character? Shad.

What fish has the name of a Dickens character? Cuttle.

What fish is given to melancholy? Bluefish.

What fish is one pitch of a singer's voice? Bass.

What fish is notoriously flat? Flounder.

What fish does a pilot dread? Rock bass.

What fish is a whole world in itself? Globe.

What fish is not honest? Shark.

What fish could serve in the navy? Torpedo fish.

What fish is fault finding? Carp.

What fish does not need to swim? Flying fish.

Signaling Noon.

Most boys and girls know perhaps that the hour of noon is signaled every day to every part of the country by telegraph from the naval observatory at Washington. The custom originated, it is believed, at the Greenwich observatory in England, but our system is an improvement on theirs, says the Chicago News. At Greenwich a signal is sent out at noon, but at Washington a series of signals is used, beginning five minutes before noon. During these five minutes every tick of the observatory clock is electrically transmitted, except the twenty-ninth second of each minute, the last five seconds of the first four minutes and the last ten seconds of the fifth minute. After this final break of ten seconds the exact noon signal is given. The object of the series of signals is not only to indicate more clearly the instant of noon, but to enable the men at the various stations to regulate their clocks.

Diamonds Burn Like Coal.

The jeweler at closing time was putting his diam... in a huge safe.

"But why ... ... bother to do that when two watchmen walk the shop all night long?"

"On account of fire," the jeweler replied. "Diamonds are nothing but coal—carbon—they burn beautifully. Their hardness makes us think them indestructible, but as a matter of fact, a fire of diamonds would be the briskest, prettiest thing in the world.

"Put a handful of diamonds on a plate and set a light to them. They will burn with a hard, gemlike flame till nothing is left. There will be no smoke, no soot, and at the end the plate will be as clean as though just washed—not the slightest particle even of ash will remain."

National Flowers.

The fleur-de-lis is the emblem of gay France.

The violet is the national flower of Athens.

The sugar maple is the national emblem of Canada.

The shamrock is emblematic of the Emerald Isle.

The linden is the national emblem of Prussia.

England's national flower is the rose.

Italy's emblem is the lily.

Germany's emblem is the corn flower.

The leek is the emblem of Wales, and the thistle of Scotland.

The United States has no national flower.

Birthdays—A Game.

A lovely game played on the same plan as the donkey game is birthdays. Tack a large calendar on the wall or an improvised one containing thirty-one squares, from one to thirty-one in regular order. Provide each guest with a slip of muslin or paper bearing the date of his birth. The game is to walk blindfolded to the calendar and pin your paper to it. The one pinning his date nearest to the same date on the calendar wins the prize. For instance, if your birthday is the 30th of April you should try to pin the paper as near as possible to the 30 on the calendar.

Do You Know Who Was—

"Poor Richard?"—Benjamin Franklin.

The "Sage of Greystone?"—Samuel Tilden.

The "Sage of Monticello?"—Thomas Jefferson.

The "Hero of the Towpath?"—James A. Garfield.

"Unconditional Surrender?"—U. S. Grant.

"Stonewall?"—Thomas J. Jackson.

"Little David?"—John Randolph.

The "Gray Eyed Man of Destiny?"—General William Walker.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Some Easy Riddles.

What gave the window pane (pain)? To see the curtain hung.

What bell cannot be rung. A dumbbell.

What was the most curious thing ever found in Africa? A living stone (Livingstone).

His Number.

Johnny—Say, dad, if I ate a chop and you ordered one and ate it, what would your phone number be?

Pa—Give it up, son.

Johnny—It would be 3-0.

WHY NOT TRY IT?

The wonderful influence of Printers Ink is demonstrated to you daily. It has an influence that cannot be brought in any other way. Progressive merchants the country over well know that their business would be a failure if they failed to take advantage of its wonderful drawing power

The New Watch.

The young man drew forth a fine gold watch.

"Please regulate this," he said.

"A birthday present, eh?" said the watchmaker. "Now, listen, and I'll give you some pointers about how to keep this watch in fine condition.

"Wind it in the morning instead of at night.

"At least once a year have it oiled. Remember that its balance swings 18,000 times a year, all on one little drop of oil. A wheelbarrow wouldn't stand such treatment. It would shriek for lubrication, but the small voice of the watch cannot be heard.

"After mending or cleaning examine your watch's screw heads and frames. If they are scratched the workman has been careless. He is a man to be avoided. Patronize him no more.

"Don't grumble if your mainspring breaks. This accident is due to some unknown condition of the weather. There are mainspring epidemics, like influenza ones. Just now such an epidemic is afoot. I have taken out sixty fractured mainsprings this week."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

He Got It.

The man who was in a good humor was particularly well satisfied with himself.

"I tell you," he said, "there's nothing like having sickness in the family to convince a man that he can do a good many things that he never would have dared to attempt before. Now, today I am going to buy a gown for my little girl. Her mother can't get out, you know, and so I am going to do it myself."

On the day following he had the air of a man who was particularly dissatisfied with himself.

"What's the matter?" he was asked. "Couldn't you get that gown?"

"Couldn't I get it!" he repeated. "Couldn't I get it! Hang it all, the trouble is that I did get it."

"Something wrong with it?"

"Something! If it was only 'something' I wouldn't mind. My taste is wrong, my judgment is wrong, the color is wrong, the size is wrong and the price is wrong."—Chicago Post.

Seeing Ourselves.

"The man who can pick out the best picture of himself is a rare bird," said a photographer. "Even an author, who is repeatedly a poor judge of his own work, exercises vast wisdom in selecting his best book compared with the person who tries to choose his best photograph. Every famous man or woman who has been photographed repeatedly has his favorite picture. Usually it is the worst in the collection. It shows him with an unnatural expression sitting or standing in an unnatural attitude.

"The inability to judge of his best picture must be due to the average man's ignorance as to how he really looks, or perhaps it can be partly attributed to a desire to look other than he does. A stout man will swear that the photograph most nearly like him is one that makes him look thin, a thin man the one that makes him look stout. The solemn man selects the jolliest picture, the jovial man the most cadaverous.

College and School.

The oldest of Oxford's colleges, University, was founded in 1249.

The average annual cost per pupil for public school education in Germany is $12.86.

Mrs. Mary Quimby recently closed her school in the Buzzell district, Wakefield, N. H., making forty-five consecutive years she has been engaged in the work.

Nearly all the states in the American Union established free public schools between 1840 and 1850. But the graded system of instruction was carried out only in the large cities. In a country school there were sometimes more classes than scholars.

State Lines.

A new law in Louisiana has lifted the robin out of the list of game birds.

Colorado has a marble deposit worth more to the ton than any but the very highest grade of gold ore.

In the eleven counties of southeast Missouri, containing swamp or overflowed lands, thirty-one drainage ditches or canals have been constructed, with a total length of about 660 miles. These ditches have reclaimed 255,000 acres of land.
